课程简介

Writing Classes 3rd - 8th grades:

Mr. Walsh's classes are designed to keep students' writing skills sharp after the summer vacation and to get them ready to face the writing challenges of their classes throughout the school year. Ongoing reviews of grammar concepts, spelling and punctuation are combined with challenging writing assignments each week, designed to present students with various opportunities to improve their skills and advance their writing.

SAT Writing:

Mr. Walsh's SAT Essay Writing classes focus exclusively on the written response portion of the SAT test. Students will be given an official SAT writing test each week. Classes will be focussed on improving each student's writing every week by examining the student's organizational, analytical, and communication skills. Grammar, spelling and usage issues will be tackled in each class as well. Mr. Walsh's classes are designed to give every student the chance to closely examine their own writing, find their weaknesses and capitalize on their strengths.

College entrance essay

The college entrance essay can be a source of extreme intimidation for most high school students. How do you make yourself sound appealing without sounding gotistical? How can you tell true stories about your short life that display your values, your work ethic, your inherent skills? Perhaps the most intimidating question of all is, "How do I get started if I don't know what to say?"

These questions and fears should not be an obstacle. Every student has the ability to talk about their future plans and past achievements with the proper guidance and support. I can help your student decide how to present themselves confidently by choosing the best essay responses that will show their most wide-ranging skills and mature, responsible qualities. I will help your student tackle the various varieties of essay questions: the stories from their past, the questions about their future plans, descriptions of how their identity shapes them, their feelings about community, the questions about their inner thoughts. I have years of experience helping students bring out the best in themselves and giving them the confidence to find it.

When I am finished helping my students, I ask them to contact me to tell me if they were accepted to the colleges of their choice. I am proud to say that every student who has contacted me has been accepted. I look forward to working with your student and helping them present a picture of themselves that they can be proud of as well.
